RE: E2Value Enhancement

We have added an enhancement to the E2value program in our Brite Core Rating system. The Pronto E2value program is now available for your use. The Pronto Program is as easy to use as the E2value program, but has several enhancements which you may find valuable when developing the replacement estimator.

Included in the Pronto Program is the capability of viewing aerial photos of most properties through a Digital Map program which enables you to see different views of the home. Some rural properties may not have been surveyed yet by the Digital Map program, so this feature may not be available in some instances. Another valuable tool is the capability to measure buildings from the Digital Map program, which enables you to get the approximate sq. ft. of a structure or part of a structure when sq. ft. dimensions are not available to you.

To access the Pronto program you just need to click on the E2value icon located in the Rating Tab of the BriteCore quoting system. The system takes you into the page to begin a regular E2value estimate. However, if you click on the Services tab at the top of the page and then click on the Pronto Icon on that page, you will be given access to the Pronto system. We left the E2value program intact as the Pronto system does not yet have the capability of calculating mobile home estimates, which is available in the E2value program.

Attached is a step by step guide to using the Pronto E2value program. Since you are accessing the program through our quoting system, you are automatically signed in so you can skip that step in the instruction sheet.

If you have any questions on locating or using the program, please contact your Underwriter at Mutual of Wausau.
